DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 42 and 43 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on November 26, 2004.

2. Applicant's election with traverse of species I in the reply filed on November 26, 2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that examiner has not provided the requisite reasons for the restriction and searching all pending claims would not constitute a serious burden on the examiner. This is not found persuasive because species I does not require "the another side of chiplet to include an inclined surface for reflecting".

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2872

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-4, 6-8, 10, 13, 14, 16, 23 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Palmer (US Patent No. 3,963,920, from IDS).

Palmer disclose an interconnection for interconnecting microelectronic chips with optical wires (see figures 1 and 2), wherein the optical wires (33) are bonded onto the microelectronic chips (10) and optically connected therewith, a segment of an optical fiber (16), the segment having two ends, the ends being a first end (near 34) and a second end (near 20), the ends being attached to the microelectronic chips by means of terminations (12), the termination being disposed on a substrate material having a first side and a second side (see figure 2), the terminations are optically coupled to the optical fiber and the terminations are further electrically coupled to the microelectronic chips (by 22), the terminations comprise a laser chiplet (near 34) and a photodetector chiplet (20), further comprising a groove where fiber is disposed in (in 18) and a mirror (column 3, lines 1-3), an optical path is established so that light travels from the laser chiplet through the substrate material to the photodetector (see column 3, lines 1-21), the mirror is disposed on the second side of the terminations (see column 3, lines 1-3), the photodetector chiplets are disposed on the first side of the terminations and the groove is at the second side of the terminations (see figure 1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 5 , 9, 11, 12, 15, 17-22, 24 and 26-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Palmer.

Regarding claims 5 and 11, Palmer discloses the claimed invention as set forth above except for the numeral aperture of the fiber and the size of the terminations. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to choose the numeral aperture of the fiber and the size of the terminations as disclosed since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

Regarding claims 9, 17, Palmer discloses the claimed invention as set forth above except the terminations further comprise gold bonds. It is well know in the art to use gold bonds as a solder for the terminations. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use this material because it has electrically stable characteristic.

Regarding claims 12, 15, 18-22, 24 and 26-28, Palmer discloses the claimed invention as set forth above except for the materials for substrate, vertical-cavity surface emitting laser and photodetector chiplets. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to choose the disclosed materials since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.
